ADVANCED COMMISSIONS FINANCE AGREEMENT

General Agent

This instrument set forth the agreement between the undersigned General Agent, hereinafter referred to as the "GA" and Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company, hereinafter referred to as the "Company," relating to the payment by the Company to the GA commissions before they are earned ("advances"). Commissions are payable in accordance with the provisions of the General Agent Agreement between the GA and the Company relating to the sale of the Company's insurance products.

1. In accordance with the terms hereof, advances of commission will be made to the GA on a regular basis as policies are issued pursuant to the terms of the GA's agreement with the Company relating to the sale of the Company's insurance products. The amount of such advances shall be determined by the Company. Maximum advance per policy is $2,500.00 (subject to change). Advances on "Bank Draft" mode of payment only. No advance on monthly, quarterly or semi-annual payment modes. These advances against future commissions shall automatically be continued to be solely at the Company's discretion. Such advances of future commissions shall be considered loans to the GA by the Company and are subject to the terms hereof.
2. Advance history will be reviewed annually for persistency, policy placement and the over all health of the agent's commissions account. Advance privilege can be revoked at any time by the Company.
3. Advance approval based on minimum of $250K Projected New Annualized Premium.
4. The acceptance by the GA of any advance commission payment from the Company shall be conclusive evidence that such advance commissions are owed to the Company until paid or earned pursuant to the terms of this Agreement and the GA Agreement.
5. In consideration for the making of advances to the GA against future commissions, the GA hereby assigns and pledges all right, title and interest to all commissions payable to the GA pursuant to the terms of its General Agent Agreement with the Company, or any other monies payable to the GA thereunder, as collateral security for the repayment of any outstanding advance balances of the GA owned to the Company. The GA hereby agrees that any advanced amount may be at any time deducted and withheld by the Company from commissions earned by the GA under the terms of the General Agent agreement, until such time as any and all advanced amounts owed to the Company by the GA are paid in full.
6. The GA hereby agrees that if an advance of commissions on an issued policy is made to the GA, and the underlying policy is terminated during the period for which advances have been made, any remaining balance due on the advance for such policy shall be deducted from future commissions advanced or earned commissions payable to the GA. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the GA agrees that repayment of any such advance commissions against a terminated policy shall be made immediately by the GA if requested by the Company.
7. In all events, the GA hereby agrees to pay immediately upon demand by the Company any balance due and owing on the balance of any advanced commissions upon termination of the GA's General Agent Agreement with the Company or termination of GA's representative's agent with the Company.
8. For any advanced commission amounts that are not repaid in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement, the GA hereby agrees to pay interest at the rate of EIGHTEEN PERCENT (18%) per annum compounded monthly until such amount is paid in full to the Company.
9. The GA warrants and represents that none of the commissions payable to the GA by the Company are subject to any prior assignment, claim, lien or security interest, and that the GA is authorized to make such assignment as collateral security in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. The GA hereby agrees to execute all financing statements required for the Company to perfect its security interest in the collateral pledged hereunder. The GA hereby represents and warrants that it shall take all action necessary to secure the lien right of the Company on the receivables pledged herein such that the Company may, in the event of default by the GA, directly pursue as the GA's assignee, the amounts owed by the GA's agents and sales representatives, or such other monies payable to the GA by other insurance companies.

10. If commission advances owed to the Company, or its designee, as a result of the terms of this Agreement are not repaid by the GA when due pursuant to the terms hereof, or if an agreement is not reached with the Company for the repayment of said obligations within thirty (30) days after the due date, the GA hereby agrees to pay all costs of collection, including, but not limited to, attorney fees and the costs of suit.
11. If any amounts owed to the Company are not paid as required hereunder, the GA hereby agrees that the Company may initiate suit against the GA in the jurisdiction of the Company's choice. The GA hereby expressly consents to the service of process in the jurisdiction if a suit is brought by the Company against the GA for amount owing hereunder.
12. There will be no advances allowed on monthly direct bill business.

SUMMARY OF YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT

The Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) is designed to promote accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of every Consumer Reporting Agency (CRA). Most CRAs are credit bureaus that gather and sell information about you — such as where you work and live, if you pay your bills on time, and whether you've been sued, arrested, or filed for bankruptcy — to creditors, employers, landlords and other businesses. The FCRA gives you specific rights in dealing with CRAs, and requires CRAs and certain other individuals or entities to provide you with a summary of these rights as listed below. You can find the complete text of the FCRA, 15 U.S.C. 1081 at the Federal Trade Commission's website (<http://www.ftc.gov>).

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses information from a CRA to take adverse action against you — such as denying an application for credit, insurance, or employment — must give you the name, address, and phone number of the CRA that provided the report.
- You can find out what is in your file. At your request, a CRA must give you the information in your file, and a list of everyone who has requested it recently. There is no charge for the report if an individual or company has taken adverse action against you because of information supplied by the CRA, if you request the report within sixty (60) days of receiving the notice of the adverse action. You are also entitled to one free report every twelve (12) months upon request, if you certify that (1) you are unemployed and plan to seek employment within sixty (60) days, (2) you are on welfare, or (3) your report is inaccurate due to fraud. Otherwise, a CRA may charge you a fee of up to eight dollars to provide you a copy of your report.
- You can dispute inaccurate or incomplete information with the CRA. If you tell a CRA that your file contains inaccurate or incomplete information, the CRA must reinvestigate the items (usually within thirty [30] days) by presenting to its information source all relevant evidence you submit, unless your dispute is frivolous. The source must review your evidence and report its findings to the CRA. (The source also must advise national CRAs to which it has provided the information of any error.) The CRA must give you a written report of the investigation, and a copy of your report if the investigation results in any changes. If the CRA's investigation does not remove the dispute, you may add a brief statement to your file. The CRA must normally include a summary of your statement in future reports. If an item is deleted or a dispute statement is filed, you may ask that anyone who has recently received your report be notified of the change.
- Inaccurate information must be corrected or deleted. A CRA must remove or correct inaccurate or unverified information from its files, usually within thirty (30) days after you dispute its accuracy or completeness. However, the CRA is not required to remove data from your file that is accurate unless it is outdated (as described below) or cannot be verified. If your dispute results in any change to your report, the CRA cannot reinsert into your file a disputed item unless the information source verifies its accuracy and completeness. In addition, the CRA must give you a written notice telling you it has reinserted the item. The notice must include the name, address and phone number of the information source.
- You can dispute inaccurate items with the source of the information. If you tell a person or entity such as a creditor who reports to a CRA — that you dispute an item, they may not then report the information to a CRA without including a notice of your dispute. In addition, once you have notified the source of the error in writing, it may not continue to report the information if it is, in fact, an error.
- Outdated information may not be reported. In most cases, a CRA may not report negative information that is more than seven (7) years old, or ten (10) years for bankruptcies.
- Access to your file is limited. A CRA may provide information about you only to those who have a need recognized by the FCRA usually to consider an application you have submitted to a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business.
- Your consent is required for reports that are provided to employers, or reports that contain medical information. A CRA may not report to your employer, or prospective employer, about you without your written consent. A CRA may not divulge medical information about you without your consent.
- You may choose to exclude your name from CRA lists for unsolicited credit and insurance offers. Creditors and insurers may use file information as the basis for sending you unsolicited offers of credit or insurance. Such offers must include a toll free number for you to call if you want your name and address removed from future lists. If you call, you must be kept off the lists for two years. If you request, complete, and return the CRA form provided for this purpose, you must be taken off the lists indefinitely.

I. USA Patriot Act Introduction

Section 352 of the USA Patriot Act, amending the Bank Secrecy Act, requires GTL to establish written formal anti-money laundering (AML) programs and file suspicious activity reports (SARs) with the federal government.

Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company, and its subsidiary (collectively GTL) has adopted and is firmly committed to its AML compliance policies and procedures dated May 2, 2006. It is the policy of GTL to prohibit and actively prevent money laundering.

Before we proceed, the following definitions are included to provide a better understanding of money laundering.

Definitions:

Money laundering is defined as the participation in any transaction that seeks to conceal or disguise the nature or origin of funds that have been received from illegal activities. Generally, the money laundering process consists of the following three stages:

Placement

Introduction of cash originating from criminal activities into financial or non-financial institutions such as insurance companies.

Layering

Separating the proceeds of criminal activity from their source through the use of layers of complex financial or non-financial transactions. These layers are designed to hamper the audit trail, disguise the origin of funds and provide anonymity.

Integration

Placing the laundered proceeds back into the economy in such a way they re-enter the financial system as apparently legitimate funds. Financial institutions and/or insurance companies may be used at any point in the money laundering process.

Covered Products

The final rule only applies to products that possess features that make them susceptible to being used for money laundering and meet the definition of "Covered Products". Covered Products have features such as cash surrender values that potentially pose money laundering and terrorist financing risks.

GTL has completed an assessment of the money laundering risks associated with the type of Covered Products being marketed and determined that currently only the company's whole life products would be subject to AML policies and procedures.

The company will periodically evaluate the type of products being marketed to determine if additional products should be subject to GTL's AML program.

II. GTL Policy

GTL is firmly committed to complying with all applicable AML laws, regulations and government guidance and to prevent the use of its covered products by money launderers. To reaffirm this commitment, GTL has developed Policies and Procedures. All agents that are involved in soliciting the suspect products are required to comply with the following policies and procedures.

- To comply fully with applicable AML laws, regulations and government guidance, including insured's identification, transaction reporting, suspicious activity reporting and record keeping requirements.
- Not to conduct business with insureds who are known to be involved in illegitimate business activities and whose income, funds and assets are known to be derived from illegitimate sources;
- Not to conduct business with insureds and entities that are included in Presidential Executive Orders, on the Treasury Department's Office of Foreign Assets Control's ("OFAC")* lists of sanctioned countries, governments and specially-designated nationals, narcotics traffickers and global terrorists or terrorist organizations, or on the lists issued pursuant to applicable non-U.S. economic sanction programs;

- To the extent practical and reasonable, to adhere to GTL’s customer acceptance and Know Your Customer (“KYC”) policies and procedures, including enhanced due diligence policies and procedures for insureds and products, that pose a high risk of money laundering;
- To be alert to unusual or suspicious transactions or insured activities, e.g., activities that do not appear to make good business or investment sense or that there are inconsistent with an insured’s normal transactions, or that may be indicative of requirements of possible money laundering or other illegal activity;
- To seek advice and refer unusual and suspicious activity immediately in accordance with GTL’s procedures for reporting such activity;
- To ensure that appropriate action is taken once unusual or suspicious activity is referred, including by filing reports of suspicious activity to appropriate government authorities, and
- To cooperate fully with law enforcement

III. Agent / Broker Responsibility:

As an insurance producer, you have direct contact with customers and are in a substantial position to gather information and detect suspicious activity. GTL relies upon your observational skills to identify activities that may be part of a money laundering scheme. Agents are responsible for obtaining and providing complete and accurate information in all applications and other documentation required for issuance of a covered product or transaction involving a covered product.

- Agents and Brokers should be aware of “suspicious activities” with respect to a Covered Product, and
- Communicate such suspicious activity to the Compliance Officer for completion and filing of a Suspicious Activity Report (SAR).

The federal rules state a transaction totaling $5,000 or more is suspicious if any of the following apply:

- The transaction involves funds derived from an illegal activity;
- The transaction is designed to evade any regulations under the Bank Secrecy Act, or
- The transaction has no business or apparent lawful purpose and GTL knows of no reasonable explanation for the transaction after examining all of the available facts.

Some common red flags of a suspicious transaction include:

- Customer uses false ID.
- Two or more customers use a similar ID.
- Customer that alters a transaction after ID is requested.
- Customer changes or alters the spelling of their name.
- Customer without a local address who appears to reside locally because they are a repeat customer.
- Currency exchanges just under the $1,000 threshold.
- Cash sale or money orders or traveler’s checks of just under $3,000.
- Two or more customers apparently working together to break a transaction into two or more transactions to avoid reporting requirements.
- Customers using two or more locations or cashiers in the same day.
- Customers offering bribes or tips.
- Customer admitting to illegal conduct.
- Customer who makes large transactions not consistent with the Customer’s occupation or business practice.
- The purchase of an insurance product inconsistent with the customer’s needs; unusual payment methods, such as cash, cash equivalents (when such a usage of cash or cash equivalents is, in fact, unusual);

- Early termination of a product, especially at a cost to the customer, or where payment is made by, or the refund check is directed to a third party;
- The transfer of the benefit of a product to an apparently unrelated third party; or a customer who questions or seems concerned about the early termination features of the product;
- A customer who is unwilling or reluctant to provide identifying information when purchasing a product, or who provides minimal or seemingly fictitious information; and
- A customer who borrows the maximum cash value available soon after purchasing the product.

Possible Situations Concerning Red Flags:

- A. When asked personal questions, the customer exhibits unusual concern regarding GTL’s compliance with government reporting requirements and the Company’s AML policies, particularly with respect to his or her identity, type of business and assets; is reluctant or refuses to reveal any information concerning business activities; or furnishes unusual or suspect identification or business documents.
- B. After you provide the client a needs base analysis, the client applies for coverage that is inconsistent with their financial situation. The prospective client is unconcerned about the death benefit, features, or any surrender fees associated with the GTL policy, but is overly interested in the time it takes GTL to refund or redirect premium payments to a third party.
- C. After the your you ask for identification the client provides you a poor photocopy of a foreign passport. When you ask for a phone number the client provides you a number to his/her cell phone. After attempting to call the number you find that it is disconnected or not in service. Any other attempts to contact the customer are unsuccessful.

Important Note:

DO NOT investigate potential money laundering situations yourself. Your responsibility is to be aware of the possible “Red Flags” and report suspicious activity to GTL’s Compliance Officer. Agents are not responsible for maintaining records pertaining to meetings with customers or suspicion of potential moneylaundering activities.

Reporting Procedure:

If an agent suspects there is the potential for money laundering with a client, the agent should follow these steps:

1. Immediately inform your direct supervisor/manager.
2. Contact the GTL compliance officer at (800) 338-7452 or (800) 323-6907.
3. Communicate immediately, as the GTL must refer issues to the United States Treasury Department and resolve within 30 days of identification of a potential money-laundering report.
4. Do not complete or initiate any transactions between the prospective client and GTL until you receive notification from GTL.

Consequences of Non-Compliance

The Office of Financial Accounting (OFAC) has the authority to impose both corporate and personal fines of up to $1 million and 12 years in jail, civil penalties of up to $250,000 per incident, as well as the forfeiture of funds or other property involved in the violation.

Possible Liabilities:

Personal: Civil fines from $25,000 – $100,000

Criminal: fines from $250,000 and 5 years in jail (Maximum fine of $500,000 and 10 years in prison)

Professional: Damage to personal/professional reputation

Over the past several years, OFAC has imposed millions of dollars in civil penalties involving U.S. financial institutions, including insurance companies. The majority of the fines resulted from the institution’s failure to block illicit transfers when there was a reference to a targeted country or person or entity on the SDN list involved in the transaction. According to OFAC, mitigating factors in civil penalty procedures include self-disclosure to OFAC, the use and sophistication of interdict software, training of employees, AML prevention and detection processes and procedures, and other compliance initiatives.

Code of Ethical Market Conduct

At Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company, we strive to provide our customers with quality service. In order to maintain high standards of honesty, fairness, and integrity, we have developed a Code of Ethical Market Conduct which serves as a guidepost for our conduct in the insurance marketplace.

Market Conduct at GTL

“Market conduct” refers to actions made when providing service to our customers: employees, general agents, and policyowners.

GTL maintains high customer service standards. Honesty, fairness, and integrity are characteristics that employees and general agents are expected to display when dealing with customers. GTL has developed a Code of Ethical Market Conduct to help employees and general agents determine what type of behavior is expected of them. The Code of Ethical Market Conduct consists of six Principles which are described below.

Principle One :

Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company will conduct business according to high standards of honesty and fairness. We will render to our customers the services which, in the same circumstance, we would demand for ourselves.

Principle Two:

Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company will provide competent and customer-focused sales and service.

Principle Three:

Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company will engage in fair competition.

Principle Four:

Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company will provide advertising and sales materials that are clear as to purpose, and honest and fair as to content.

Principle Five:

Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company will provide a means for fair and expeditious handling of customer complaints and disputes.

Principle Six:

Guarantee Trust Life Insurance Company will maintain a system of supervision that is reasonably designed to achieve compliance with these Principles.

These principles encourage us to ensure that employees and general agents have the information they need to follow the laws and regulations that pertain to their area. Our general agents also should make efforts to ensure that each customer fits the profile of the market for which the product is designed.

To provide competent sales and service, employees and general agents must adhere to our Code of Ethical Market Conduct. In addition, employees and general agents must have knowledge about GTL 's products and their functions. General agents must also be licensed or otherwise qualified under state law.

We are committed to competition as the most effective and efficient means of providing products and services to our customers. Competition is also the most efficient regulator of activities. To maintain and enhance competition in the marketplace for our products, we should ensure that employees and general agents, through education and action, promote an awareness of the concept of a fair marketplace. Our general agents should not replace existing insurance policies without first providing the customer with the information he or she needs to make an informed decision about replacement.

GTL will use only sales and solicitation materials based upon the principles of fair dealing and good faith and that have a sound factual basis.

In order to resolve any complaints and disputes that may arise concerning GTL's market conduct, efforts should be made to identify, handle, and resolve all complaints fairly and objectively.

All GTL employees are provided with information about GTL's Code of Ethical Market Conduct Policies and procedures have also been developed for auditing and monitoring our general agents' market activities and sales practices.

Market Conduct Violations
